St Patrick’s pupils ‘energized’

From page 1.

After a breakfast of cereal, fruit and French toast, St Patrick’s pupils had plenty of energy and enthusiasm to tackle the activities staged for the Project Energize launch.

A cycling course was set up by Olympic cyclists Tim Gudsell and Peter Latham, aerobics was led by bodybuilder Sue Biggar, swimming lessons were given by former Te Awamutu resident Richard Sutton (who is now a swim coach in Hamilton), while games and activities were carried out with the Sport Waikato team.

Project Energize is a two year project funded by Health Waikato and also has a research component to analyse its effectiveness.

To provide baseline data 3000 five and 10 year old children have been weighed and measured.
A ‘before and after’ picture can then be compiled at the end of the two years. The research component is supported by Meadowfresh, which is also providing cartons of milk to some low decile schools.

The Project Energize staff members responsible for the 17 Waipa schools taking part will be closely involved with the programme and will help with professional development, as well as assisting with policies and sourcing of healthy food options.

Janeen Gilmore is the staff member associated with St Patrick’s school.
She says the programme provides plenty of benefits for children.

There is evidence that physically healthy children are more likely to have increased self esteem, better co-ordination, improved concentration in class, positive behaviour, improved memory and a healthier lifestyle.”

As well as encouraging more physical activity and healthier food choices at school, the project will also encourage children to extend their physical activity to include some ‘home play’, replacing a few minutes of inactive home time (such as watching TV) with a fun activity or physical game.

Other local schools scheduled to have the Project Energize roadshow launch this week were Wharepapa South, Paterangi, Te Awamutu Primary and Kihikihi.

Pokuru, Hauturu, Bethel, Pekerau and Ohaupo will also be some of the 65 schools throughout the Waikato region that will be involved with Project Energize.

Wairangi Jones loves teaching, and has a special passion for Maori education. The new Te Awamutu College deputy principal says the methods he employs to create positive classroom interactions are the result of years of reading, research and learning.

Now he is sharing his experience and expertise at Te Awamutu and already says the results are positive.

Assisting his acceptance into the school and community is his own heritage.

Mr Jones was born in Taumarunui and has links with Te Arawa, Ngati Tuwharetoa and Ngati Raukawa.

His grandfather was Ngati Maniapoto, so he found strong whanau support immediately upon his arrival last year.

Mr Jones has made a study of Maori education, completing his Masters of Education in that area and he is currently writing a book on the subject.

He has run many workshops and says his methods are also effective for other students.

“It is all about engaging the students effectively in the classroom,” he says.

Mr Jones’ teaching career was put on hold for some time as he travelled as a motivational speaker and storyteller, but in 2000 his new journey in education began.

Wanting to put his own teachings into practice, he won a position teaching Maori at Hamilton Boys’ High School.

He transferred his successes there to a new position as assistant principal at Ngaruawahia High School, and now employs them at Te Awamutu.

His successes have inspired him to keep sharing his knowledge with other teachers.

He says Te Awamutu College is in a great position to benefit from a number of initiatives in the school.

Mr Jones is especially impressed with the parental support the school receives.

He says he has not witnessed that level of support before.

This year he is providing professional development in his specialism area of classroom management and techniques, plus general management and techniques, plus the school has adopted the school wide discipline programme promoted by ‘guru’ Bill Rogers and Russell Bishop’s Te Kotahitanga.

“Teachers are having positive results as a result of the professional development,” says Mr Jones.

“The school feels settled and ready for a good year.”

Kyla Johnson finds it interesting how people relate to her as an artist. The beauty technician, and owner of Memories Beauty Therapy Clinic, has her first exhibition currently hanging at Cafe 10.

She says there is more to life than a person's chosen career, and for her art is another important facet of who she is. Until now the only display of her art has been in her clinic, but she has taken the bold step of going public. Her works reflect her passion for colour and texture. She works in acrylic on canvas, and also uses plaster to create textural effects.

Art has been part of Miss Johnson's life since she was a school student. She took art as a subject through high school and has found as a businesswoman she has learnt self discipline and time management skills that allow her time to let her creativity flow.

Miss Johnson is grateful Cafe 10 owner David Gibson has given her the chance to exhibit, and says this feels like a new opportunity for people to see another side of her.

Laura Langman in full flight during the recent Waikato-BOP in Silver Ferns.

The inclusion of midcourter Laura Langman is a feature of Silver Ferns coach Ruth Aitken’s team to take on England in next month’s Fisher and Paykel test series.

The announcement comes after a three-day training camp in Auckland, attended by the Silver Ferns and NZA squad.

Aitken is delighted to welcome the Te Pahu 18-year-old to the team, saying she will add youth and flair to the experienced Silver Ferns midcourt line-up.

“A Laura has produced some fine performances in the time she has been in the Silver Ferns squad.”

She has really taken the step up needed to become a Silver Fern.

Aitken says Langman is a fantastic athlete with an excellent fitness base.

“She skill and ability has really stood out at all Silver Ferns training sessions.”

Aitken says she knows Langman will be a valuable member of the team.

Langman heads to Jamaica and the USA today with the NZU21 team for a two-week tour.

The NZU21 team plays Jamaica U21, Australia U21, England U21 teams, as well as USA today with the USA.

Aitken says the Silver Ferns only a brief respite before the Silver Ferns assemble in Whangarei for the build-up to the Fisher and Paykel test series.

Upon her return from the M2121 tour, Langman will have a brief respite before the Silver Ferns assemble in Whangarei for the build-up to the Fisher and Paykel test series.

Aitken says the Silver Ferns and NZU21 medical team and coaches are working closely together to ensure Langman’s recovery programme is well managed.

The Maungatautari Ecological Island Trust is taking no chances after some old, suspected stoat droppings were found in the southern enclosure on Maungatautari.

While no stoats have been tracked during the three and a half months of pest monitoring, following the two poison drops in September and October last year, MEIT felt it prudent to double check the stoat status.

The trust called in expert Joe Waikari, from DoC in Gisborne, and his stoat predator dog Tiki. Last Thursday and Friday, Tiki systematically sniffed his way through the two enclosures and ‘declared’ them free of live stoats.

He did however track some suspect droppings.

Tiki is a highly regarded and experienced stoat tracker, capable of detecting stoat scent that is years old.

While the droppings are being sent for identification EPRO, the pest eradication company, is already planning to place some suspect droppings. EPRO, the pest eradication company, is already planning to place some suspect droppings.

The results of this exercise will be crucial in determining a date for the next pest eradication operation.

The vision for the Maungatautari Ecological Island Trust is to place a pest-proof fence around the bush edge of Maungatautari, eliminate all the introduced pests and then reintroduce the animals that once existed on the mountain.

Funding of $5.1 million to date has enabled two pest-proof enclosures to be built.

The southern enclosure can be accessed from Tari Road, Pukeatua, and the northern enclosure from Hicks Road, however visitors are reminded that the pest monitoring operation is still in progress and therefore are asked not to interfere with the tracking tunnels.

There were 181 anglers fishing from 53 boats in the annual three-day Kawhia One Base Fishing Competition which started last Thursday.

There were two marlin weighed in, one of which was disallowed due to the leader used being over length. The other, caught by Hamish Flynn, did not reach the required weight of 50kg.

Unluckiest angler was Dave Archer, who hooked himself with a large marlin in hook, sustaining a painful calf injury. He received a packet of Minties at the prizegiv- ing, and plenty of sympathy.

On behalf of the Convention Committee I wish to extend a warm welcome to everyone attending the 39th Annual Convention of District 202C which begins on Friday. Te Awamutu is widely known as the Rosetown of the Waikato and as Robert Louis Love was the head of the committee has been working hard for two years to ensure all is well informed, memorable and most of all FUN. We are indebted to all those generous sponsors who have enabled us to bring you this convention at a very reasonable cost. We are also very grateful to the Lions of the Waikato for the responsibility of a section of this convention and the Lions of the other eight clubs. To all our guests, we hope you will enjoy your stay in Te Awamutu and support House. Thanks to Lions, New Zealanders no longer have to travel to Australia for this treatment.

On behalf of the Convention Committee it is my privilege to announce that the Convention Half Price Rack will be available for purchase at the Convention. The proceeds from the sale of the Half Price Rack will be donated to the Waikato Hospice.

Lions have a proud history of 50 years of service to Te Awamutu and the Waikato District. There are no local clubs to be chartered on August 5, 1961 and was subsequently instrumental in establishing the other six, which together make up Zone 6 of Lions International District 202C. Pride of place in the achievements of the Te Awamutu Club is its role in the establishment of the Lions Hospitals in the Waikato area. Lions have been involved with youth projects such as national speech contest, international youth exchange, "Skills" programme in schools and even providing an apple a day to each pupil at a school.

Lions are particularly proud of the Lions Cancer Lodge, Habitat for Humanity project, the Rosetown Lions Club and support House. Thanks to Lions, New Zealanders no longer have to travel to Australia for this treatment.

Pride of place in the achievements of the Te Awamutu Clubs is the project which culminated in the opening of the Te Awamutu Eventide Home (now called Freeman Court) in 1970, and which earned a citation from the International President.

The club’s continued support of the home has contributed to the construction of a second wing in 1975 and major alterations in 2001, when fundraising was aided by a grant from Lions Clubs International Foundation. Some of the other community projects in which the club has been involved in recent years include: the Otorohanga Festival, the Otorohanga Country Fair, Te Awamutu Christmas Lights Project and Rosetown Pavilion, the Mohoroa Lane Playground, Centennial Park, the Warmwater Project, the location of the Little Theatre, Lennies of the Fire Brigade, concert, arts, exhibitions, flowers, shows, school bus shelters, and a minibus for the church.

Canadians for Kihikihi

By Colin Thorsen

The entry of three Canadian cowboys has given an international flavour to the Waikato Rodeo at Kihikihi Domain on Saturday.

Secretary, Jude Cornelius says it’s great to have some Canadians competing on the New Zealand circuit for the first time in many years.

Brothers Jessy and Wyatt Anton have entered the open steer wrestling and open bullride, while Marty Maurice is lining up in the open saddled bronc.

Marty Maurice is employed as a point towards the grand final. Only the top eight leading money earners after Saturday get points to qualify for the grand final.

New Zealand Rodeo president, Gary Jackson (Kaukapakapa) says Pixie has opened up her home and looked after these cowboys from down under for many years.

‘It’s great to be able to repay the hospitality,’ says Jackson.

Marty Maurice is employed as an apprentice farrier by Bruce McDonald just north of Auckland. The Canadian came to New Zealand to learn more about being a farrier than rodeo, but put his riding gear in the suitcase just in case he got the urge to compete.

Jackson says there is a large number of South Island cowboys coming to Kihikihi.

Every dollar they win is classed as a point towards the grand final.

Entries are still being called for the local bull ride - to be run separately from the second division this year.

Cornelius has received 12 entries to date but says she would like many more members of the public to have a crack at this fun event, sponsored by Alpha Hotel and Restaurant.

She says Luke Phillips enjoyed the event at last year’s Wanganui finals.

Leading allround cowboy (on national standings as at January 15) is Patrick McCarthy. He has earned $6,607.

BRM team invest in young Kiwis

Jordan to mix it with ‘big boys’ this season

By Colin Thorsen

Teenage motor racing drivers Nic Jordan and Marc Williams have been signed by the Australian Formula 3 championship-winning team BRM in a quest to win back to back titles this season.

Jordan, who won the Trophy class championship for older cars last season, will be mixing it with the ‘big boys’ this time.

He has turned to the Adelaide-based team this week in a bid to win the outright (Gold Star) championship, while his seat in the Trophy class has been taken this year by Jordan, formerly of Te Awamutu (New Plymouth).

Jordan’s mother, Michelle, says Nic was “champing at the bit” when he flew out for Australia.

“He hasn’t raced since October, he’s just been hanging out for it.”

The Kiwi youngsters, both originally from Taranaki and both aged 16, have raced together in karting and the New Zealand Formula 1 championship - the level entry for Kiwi-racing in New Zealand - but this is the first time they have been teammates.

The pair will make their racing debut at the New South Wales circuit of Wakefield Park at the end of this month.

They will then compete at Melbourne’s Albert Park in support races to the Australian Formula 1 Grand Prix on March 3-6.

Nic’s Jordan says her son is relishing his new role as a Rookie of the Year award last season is excited about stepping up to a newer car this season after winning the Trophy championship with an unbeaten run of 12 race victories.

“There are a lot of new drivers and new cars this year, so it’s a big step.

“We still have a long way to go to get all the funding we need for a good start to the season will help us keep going.”

Team owner Bronte Rundle is confident the young Kiwis will give BRM a good chance of continuing its recent run of success.

“We have a driver line-up which will hopefully see us win our first back to back Formula 3 titles, after winning in 2002 and 2004,” says Rundle.

Daniel West scored a wonderful century helping Te Awamutu College 1st XI beat the Tauranga under-17 development squad by 117 runs. West anchored the innings, batting for all but the last couple of overs compiling 124 runs out of a team total of 253/6. He dispatched the ball to all parts of the ground. It was easily his highest score for the 1st XI, eclipsing the 66 he scored last year against Morrinsville College.

West and wicketkeeper-batsman Andrew Powell featured in their second 100-plus partnership in the past two weeks. Powell scored 46 runs from 45 balls. His knock included five fours, while West struck eight fours. Josh Nelson again looked in good touch before being run out for 27.

In reply, Tauranga lost wickets at regular intervals to be all out for 136 in the 39th over. Some good, accurate Te Awamutu bowling was supported by very good catching and ground fielding.

Wicket-takers were Ben Missen, with 3-20, Levi Jamieson 2-20, Peter West 2-13, Nelson 1-29 and Kurt Williams 1-29.

College coach, Kelvin Powell said the match provided an excellent opportunity for both teams to get good quality match practice. “We’re now looking forward to a reciprocal visit to Tauranga later in the year.”

College 1st XI miss out

Te Awamutu College 1st XI cricket team were architects of their own demise losing by 26 runs to Morrinsville.

It was a game very much there for the taking. College had the home team reeling at 60/6 and 134/9, only to let them off the hook with a stubborn last wicket stand of 124 runs.

Their cause was not helped by a couple of costly dropped catches and being guilty of bowling a large number of wides.

Ben Missen - his maiden half century for the 1st XI.

The innings was built around a polished 53 runs from opener Ben Missen 2-35, Daniel West 2-34 and Levi Jamieson 2-22.

Swimmers on song

OFF TO NATIONALS: Waikato age group silver medallists Hannah Curnow (left) and Fraser Armstrong (front), with two other Te Awamutu qualifiers for the New Zealand junior championships, Morgan Kirkham and Angela Rawlings.

BRACE OF GOLDS for Craig Holmes at the Waikato age group swimming championships. He and Hayden McCormick will represent Te Awamutu at this weekend’s national junior championships in Auckland.

By Colin Thorsen

Endless hours of dedicated training paid off for the small contingent of eight Te Awamutu swimmers at the Waikato age group championships. Craig Holmes set a fine example with two gold medals in the 100m and 200m backstroke for 12 year olds.

Coach Kathy Malcolm says Holmes’ brace of golds were ‘won with grit and determination’. “It was just the incentive for Fraser (Armstrong) and Hannah (Curnow) to go out and win silver medals.”

Armstrong claimed his silver in the 12 year boys’ 100m freestyle, while Curnow was second in the girls’ 200m individual medley.

Further success went Te Awamutu’s way with Hayden McCormick meeting the qualifying standard for the New Zealand junior championships in the 50m backstroke. He joins five other local swimmers who had previously qualified for the junior nationals on February 19-20 at the Henderson Pool in Auckland.

Of the 53 events the eight Te Awamutu swimmers entered at the Waikato championships, personal best times were achieved in 33 of them.

The format was changed for this year’s championships. Swimmers had to achieve a qualifying time in order to swim in any of the events. If successful, they then had to compete alongside not only the best swimmers in the Waikato, but also outside the region after it became an open championship.

Malcolm says her swimmers had to achieve a high standard just to make the finals.

Besides the three medallists, Te Awamutu was represented by Daniel Holmes, Hayden Jenkins, Robyn Tuck, Jason Tuck and Hayden McCormick.

Baker bubble bursts

Leanne Baker won her eighth consecutive singles match in the past fortnight to reach the semi-finals of the $14,259 International Tennis Federation (ITF) Futures tournament in Blenheim.

The seventh seed was eliminated by fourth seed Kyung-Mi Chang of Korea 6-4, 6-1.

She was unable to recapture the form that saw her win the opening Futures tournament in Blenheim last week.

Baker, a doubles specialist with a current world ranking of 109, says the eight singles matches she won was one of her best efforts for several years.

She now has a week off before returning to the WTA Tour and second tier events at Doha and Dubai later in the month.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

to be held on March 8, 2005 at 8.00pm in clubrooms, Swaynes Road, Cambridge

PUBLIC NOTICES

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Sections 83 and 87 of the Local Government Act 2002, of Waipa District Council’s intention to adopt, on 26 June 2005:

• a Waste Management Plan pursuant to part XXII of the Local Government Act 1974; and,

• an Assessment of Works for the Collection and Disposal of Refuse pursuant to Part 1 of the Local Government Act 2002.

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

A Draft Waste Management Plan may be seen at Council offices and the Waipa District Council’s website, and is available for public comment.

A Draft Assessment of Works for the Collection and Disposal of Refuse has been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Local Government Act 1974. This Plan is intended to substitute the existing Plan (adopted in 1997) and cover a five year period to 2010.

The Draft Plans focus on solid and trade wastes, with a future review to incorporate liquid and gaseous wastes. The Plans propose a range of targeted and actions aimed at promoting long term waste minimisation within the District through the involvement of a number of local, regional and national agencies. The Draft Plan is consistent with both the New Zealand Waste Strategy and Regional Waste Management Plan.

The Draft Plan proposes that Council:

• Become a Zero Waste Council and act as a model for other organisations in the community;

• Establish a kerbside recycling service in urban areas of the district;

• Participate in regional initiatives that promote local waste minimisation;

• Provide information about awareness initiatives;

• Provide the service of refuse collection services, such as the weekly rubbish collection, to the private sector in isolation.

The Draft Assessment of the Works for the Collection and Disposal of Refuse has been prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Local Government Act 2002. This is the first such assessment that must be adopted by Council by 30 June 2005.

ASSESSMENT OF WATER AND SANITARY SERVICES

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Sections 83 and 87 of the Local Government Act 2002, of Waipa District Council’s intention to adopt, on 26 June 2005, an Assessment of Water and Sanitary Services pursuant to Section 125 of the Local Government Act 2002.

SUMMARY OF INFORMATION

An Assessment of Water and Sanitary Services has been undertaken by Opus Consultants in accordance with the requirements of the Local Government Act 2002. This is the first such assessment that must be adopted by council by 30 June 2005.

An Assessment of works for the Collection and Disposal of Refuse has been undertaken as part of the review of the Waste Management Plan.

The assessment has been undertaken to determine the extent to which water and sanitary services present a current or future risk to the public health of residents or the environment. The assessment covers both Council provided and private sanitary services, and has been undertaken to maintain the public health of the community and to prevent the spread of disease and other public health hazards.

The assessment findings largely support issues Council was already aware of and has already undertaken to address. Significant public health or environmental risks have not been identified through the monitoring of private water supplies and effluent disposal systems in several communities is warranted as a precautionary measure.

INFORMATION DAYS

The public are invited to attend an information day to ask questions and share their views about the draft Waste Management Plan and the draft Assessment of Water and Sanitary Services. The information days are:

Cambridge – Tuesday, 1 March 2005 from 4.00pm to 6.00pm in the Cambridge Room, Cambridge Service Centre, Wilson Street.

Te Awamutu – Wednesday, 2 March 2005 from 4.00pm to 6.00pm in the Waipa District Council Chambers, Bank Street.
